What Information Do We Collect Through The Website?

BVML collects both personally identifiable information and non-personally identifiable information via our Website. When we refer simply to the term information in this Policy we are referring to how BVML collects, uses, or shares both the personally identifiable, and non-personally identifiable information.

Personally identifiable information refers to information that when used alone or with other relevant data, can identify an individual (the “PII”). BVML does not collect any PII unless you provide it voluntarily. If you do not want us to collect PII, you can simply decide not to submit it to us. The PII we collect may include:

- name;
- date of birth;
- contact information, such as name, postal address, email address and telephone number;
- other personal information you provide to us on our website and other data collected automatically through the website, as applicable.

We also collect certain non-personal information (data in a form that does not support direct association with any specific person or individual) by automated means when you visit the Website (the “Non-PII”).

Collection of PII

The circumstances in which you might provide to us PII include, but are not limited to, the following:

Account creation information. You can create a personal renters account with BVML, and if you do so you will be required to provide us with certain PII. This account will allow you to reserve faster and easier, and to check on event status and history. In creating this account, you authorize BVML to store your name, birthday, email address, telephone number and shipping and billing addresses. You should keep your account information current and complete. Your account will have a password that you will create; you are responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of your user name and password. You may not use another person's account or password without their permission and you should protect the confidentiality of your account and password information by logging out of your account at the end of each reservation session.

Contests and promotion information. You can participate in BVML contests, and promotions as long as you meet eligibility requirements and comply with all applicable rules. As part of your participation, you will be required to provide us with PII, including your name, mailing address, e-mail address and other information in order to administer the promotion, notify winners, etc.

Mailing list information. You will be added to the BVML mailing list by providing us with your email address. Subscriptions to the mailing list can be cancelled at any time.

Submitting a request. When you submit a request or comment to our customer service department you will be asked to provide your email address, and depending upon the nature of your inquiry you may provide us with your PII.

Survey information. When you complete a survey on-line, we may ask for certain information from you (some of which may be PII), including your age, zip code, reservation habits, e-mail and/or mailing address.

Collection of Non-Personally Identifiable Information

We also collect certain Non-PII when you visit the Website. Much of this Non-PII is collected through the use of third-party tracking services, which includes Google Analytics, and other means, as further described below.

Google Analytics

Our Website use Google Analytics (and in the future may use other similar sites or services), a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. ("Google"), to better assist us in understanding how the Website is used. Google Analytics will place cookies on your computer that will generate information that we select about your use of the Website, including your computer's IP address. That information will be transmitted to and stored by Google. The information will be used for the purpose of evaluating consumer use of the Website, compiling reports on Website activity for our use, and providing other services relating to Website activity and usage. Google may also transfer this information to third parties where required to do so by law, or where such third parties process the information on Google's behalf. You may refuse the use of cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser. Please note that by doing so, you may not be able to use the full functionality of the Website. The use of cookies by Google Analytics is covered by Google's privacy policy. From time to time, we may enter into agreements with other third party providers for web analytic and other similar services. If we enter into such an agreement, we may share your information, including personal information, with the provider or such provider may have access to and collect your information on our behalf. Your information, including personal information, may be stored with the provider.

You can find out more information about Google Analytics cookies here: <https://developers.google.com/analytics/devguides/collection/analyticsjs/cookie-usage>. To opt-out of Google Analytics relating to your use of our Sites, you can download and install the Browser Plugin available via this link: <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=en>.

Cookies

Cookies are bits of electronic information that a website can transfer to a visitor's hard drive to help tailor and keep records of his or her visit. Cookies allow website operators to better customize visits to the site to the visitor's individual preferences. Many commercial websites use cookies. We may use cookies on our Website to allow us to, among other things, measure activity, to personalize your experience, and to track your status or progress when requesting information. If you choose, you can set your browser to reject cookies or you can manually delete individual or all of the cookies on your computer by following your browser's help file directions. However, if your browser is set to reject cookies or you manually delete cookies, you may have some trouble accessing and using some of the pages and features that are currently on our Website, or that we may put on our Website in the future.

Web Beacons

Certain pages on the Website contain "web beacons" (also known as Internet tags, pixel tags and clear GIFs). These web beacons allow third parties to obtain information such as the IP address of the computer that downloaded the page on which the beacon appears, the URL of the page on which the beacon appears, the time the page containing the beacon was viewed, the type of browser used to view the page, and the information in cookies set by the third party. Web beacons also may be used to track whether you have opened an HTML email. When the email is opened, a part of the code that makes up the HTML page calls a web server to load the web beacon that then generates a record showing that the email has been viewed. Web beacons may also recognize when the email was opened, how many times it was forwarded and which URLs (links within the email) were clicked.

IP Addresses

When you visit and interact with the Website, BVML and third parties with whom we have contracted to provide services for us may collect Internet Protocol addresses (each an "IP Address"), as well as browser type, Internet service provider (ISP), referring/exit pages, platform type, date/time stamp, and page navigation. An IP Address is a unique identifier number that certain electronic devices used to identify and to communicate with each other on the Internet; your Internet Service Provider automatically assigns an IP Address to the computer that you are using. We gather this information to track web site visitor movement in the aggregate, and to gather broad demographic information for aggregate use. Our goal in gathering this information is to learn how our customers and the public are using our service. We may use this information to enhance our Website or for other lawful purposes.

Do Not Track Notice

Your browser and other mechanisms may permit you to send do-not-track signals or other similar signals to express your preferences regarding online tracking. To the extent you employ such browser do-not-track signals or other similar mechanisms, we will use commercially reasonable efforts to honor such requests received by us to the extent we have the capacity and resources to identify and process your request. Due to the potential for rapid and diverse developments of technology in this area, we cannot guarantee that we can process every type of request that exists or may be developed in the future. As noted above, third parties, such as our advertising partners, may collect data that relates to you. We cannot control third parties' responses to do-not-track signals or other such mechanisms. Third parties' use of data relating to you and responsiveness to do-not-track signals is governed by their respective privacy policies.

How We May Use This Information?

Our primary purpose in collecting information about you is to provide you with services or information that you request or to process your payments. In addition, we may aggregate the PII that you provide with the PII that other users provide in order to conduct research, analysis, or studies for our own purposes (i.e., not related to providing you with specific services), including improving our services and future contests.

We may also use the information that you provide to us to communicate with you about our current activities, future events and contests or to notify you about any changes to our services. If you decide that you would no longer like to receive such messages you can opt-out from receiving such emails from BVML. In order to opt-out you can click on an unsubscribe link provided at the bottom of every commercial e-mail that you receive from BVML. If you opt-out, you will continue to receive communications from us relating to any payments you make or other services you request or purchase. If you decide at a later time that you would like to receive commercial emails from us, you may be able to re-add yourself to our communication list.

Any terms defined in the CCPA have the same meaning when used in this CA Privacy Statement.

Your Rights and Choices

The CCPA provides CA Residents with specific rights regarding their Personal Information. The CCPA defines Personal Information as any information that “identifies, relates to, describes, is capable of being associated with, or could reasonably be linked, directly or indirectly, with a particular consumer or household” (hereinafter, “PII”). This

CA Privacy Statement describes your CCPA rights in relation to our use of your PII, and explains how to exercise those rights.

- The categories of sources from which we collected your PII;

- The categories of third parties with whom we have shared, sold, or disclosed for business purposes your PII; and
- The specific pieces of your PII we have collected.

Portability Rights

As part of your “right of access”, you have the right to request that we provide your PII to you. Once we receive and confirm your “verifiable consumer request” (as describe below) we will provide the PII we have collected and currently hold to you “in a portable and, to the extent technically feasible, in a readily usable format.

Right of Deletion

As a California Resident, you have a right to request that we delete the PII we have collected from or about you, subject to certain exceptions. Once we receive and confirm your verifiable request (as described below), we will delete (and ask our service providers to delete) your PII from our records, unless an exception applies.

Please note, we may deny your deletion request if retaining the information is necessary for us or our service providers to:

3. Debug products to identify and repair errors that impair existing intended functionality.

You may also make a verifiable consumer request on behalf of your minor child. In order to ensure we do not inadvertently delete your PII based on a fraudulent request, we will verify your identity before we respond to your request. To verify your identity, we will generally match the identifying information provided in your request with the information we have on file about you. Depending on the sensitivity of the PII requested to be deleted, we may also utilize more stringent verification methods to verify your identity, including but not limited to requesting additional information from you. Please note you may only make a verifiable request for access (and data portability) twice within a 12-month period. To be considered a verifiable consumer request, you must:

- Provide sufficient information that allows us to reasonably verify you are the person about whom we collected PII or an authorized representative.
- Describe your request with sufficient detail that allows us to properly understand, evaluate, and respond to it.

We cannot respond to your request or provide you with PII if we cannot verify your identity or authority to make the request and confirm the PII relates to you. Making a verifiable consumer request does not require you to create an account with us. We will only use PII provided in a verifiable consumer request to verify the requestor's identity or authority to make the request.

Response Timing and Format

We endeavor to respond to a verifiable consumer request within 45 days of its receipt. If we require more time (up to 90 days), we will inform you of the reason and extension period in writing. If you have an account with us, we will deliver our written response to that account. If you do not have an account with us, we will deliver our written response by mail or electronically, at your option. Any disclosures we provide will only cover the 12-month period preceding the verifiable consumer request's receipt. The response we provide will also explain the reasons we cannot comply with a request, if applicable. For data portability requests, we will select a format to provide your PII that is readily useable and should allow you to transmit the information from one entity to another entity without hindrance.

We do not charge a fee to process or respond to your verifiable consumer request unless it is excessive, repetitive, or manifestly unfounded. If we determine that the request warrants a fee, we will tell you why we made that decision and provide you with a cost estimate before completing your request.
